14 year trend: Indonesian in Australian universities (EFTSL)
ACICIS & RUILI In-Country Language Programs EFTSL (2010-2014) as a percentage of all Indonesian language EFTSL in Australian universities
In-Country collaboration: benefits

› Shares costs, risks, infrastructure, staffing.
› Sustainability and ability to ‘up-scale’
› Immediacy of ‘real world’, ‘real time’ learning.
› Internationalisation of learning experience and of university.
› Growth ‘in-country’ cf decline in conventional enrolment
› Attuned to current government funding (New Colombo Plan etc)
› Incorporation of internships, content/’studies’ learning.
