University of New South Wales

Venue: UNSW Business School Lounge

Friday 11th May 2018

9.30-10.00 Registration & coffee

10.00 – 10.10 Welcome & Acknowledgment of Country – Prof. Alan McKee

10.10-10.20 Opening Remarks - Professor Susan Dodds, Dean of Arts and Social Sciences, UNSW & Past-President DASSH (Sept 2015-Sept 2017)

Discussion Session 1: Alternative sources of research funding

10.25 – 11.30 This session will focus on the challenges and the possibilities of securing alternative sources of funding for researchers in the Humanities and Social Sciences. Could each participant bring along a successful example of a researcher (or research team) in their faculty who has secured an alternative source of funding (i.e., non-Category 1 funding) as a basis for the discussion?

11.30 – 12.00 Morning tea

Discussion Session 2: “Should every researcher be doing impact-driven research?”

12.00 – 1.00 This session will focus on the policy shift towards impact-driven research at both national and institutional levels. As we know, from the 2018 Engagement and Impact assessment process, this is a challenge we all collectively face. The focus of this session will be on sharing our experiences of what has worked at our various institutions, including ideas about ways in which we can support researchers to develop new strategies for both enhancing the impact of their research and understanding what these new institutional and government determined expectations mean for them.

1.00 – 2.00 Lunch will be provided.

Discussion Session 3: HDR and end-user links

2.00 - 3.00 Some of us will have experiences to share on this topic and others will be struggling to understand how this will work in their faculties. Both perspectives will assist this discussion. If you do have an example of an HDR co-supervision with an end-user that would be great.

3.00 – 3.30 Afternoon tea

3.30 - 4.30 Wrap up, future directions
