

Vale Professor Robbie Robertson

It was with great sadness that we learned that former DASSH member, Professor Robbie Robertson, passed away at his home in Melbourne last week. Robbie was a very engaged, committed member of DASSH and an enthusiastic participant at the many conferences he attended.

Our deepest sympathies go to all his family – his partner Jita, his sons Nemani and Julian, and their partners and families. Robbie was well-known in the Pacific community and wrote prolifically on topics relating to governance in Fiji and the effects of globalisation.

Robbie had a long and esteemed career, including at many Australian universities, and was most recently Dean of Arts, Social Sciences and Humanities at Swinburne University of Technology from 2014 until he retired.

Vale Professor Robbie Robertson.
